

Trapped By A Love

*I was lost in love; I wasn't something to be claimed.
And love is not a beast for you to capture and tame.
You tell me all the time I'm here cause I have to be;
to make believe together we are free.*

*Poisoned words of fear to keep me here everyday;
train me to be grateful, when to sit and when to stay.
Tell me I'm responsible for your ev'ry delight,
put me in a prison, slowly turning out the light.*

I'm trapped by a love on an island alone with nothing but horizons of fear; a tree in a stone.

*We know it's a love, but something's just not right you see;
the shadows in your eyes are in my mind and haunting me.
And in my dreams I drift away, far from this place.
A journey that, I know now, I have to face...*

'cause I'm trapped by a love on an island alone with nothing but horizons of fear; a tree with...

*nowhere to grow, I have to run far from here.
Your world's closing in on me. Let's face it my dear...*

*I'm trapped by a love on an island alone
with nothing but horizons of fear.*

*I'm breaking this stone.
(When trapped by a love it gets harder to stay)*
